

SKETCHNOTES + ONE - PAGER TEMPLATES

For Educators

Sketchnoting is a powerful way for students to curate what they are learning into notes that they will actually remember.

In the process of thinking critically about how to sketchnote the material, they will prioritize important information, think about how best to illuminate it, and make connections between different key points.

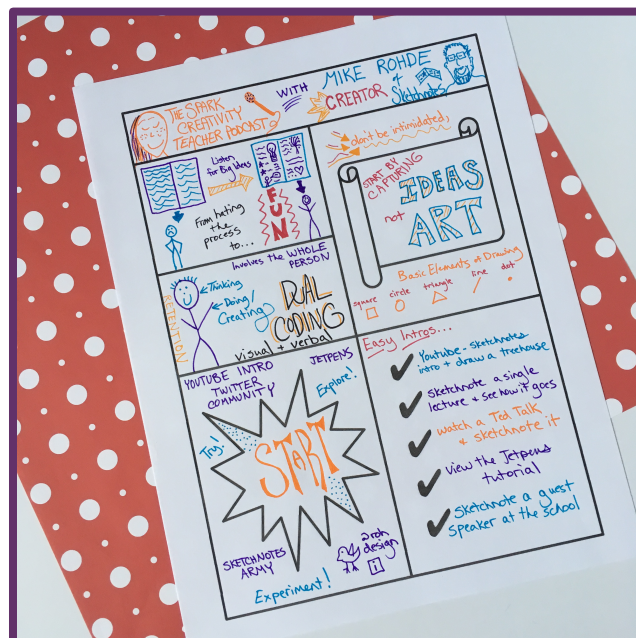

In the end, they are far more likely to remember what they are trying to learn because of this process of thinking it through as they take notes, rather than just copying down everything they hear or read in order with no critical thinking components.

To help introduce students to sketchnoting before you begin, play them this video called “Sketcho Frenzy: The Basics of Visual Notetaking.”

You can find it here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gY9KdRfNN9w>.

You can also show them the examples on the following pages.

In this packet, you’ll find six templates that students can use if they find the concept of sketchnoting overwhelming at first. The templates simply help give their visual notes a little structure while they are getting the hang of how to prioritize important information and make connections between critical points.

★ ANGIE THOMAS

Childhood

- Medgar Evers, Civil Rights Leader, killed in her neighborhood + Angie's mom HEARD THE SHOTS as a girl.

"I'm going to beg you to change the world."
"What do you have to do? SPEAK UP."
THE HATE U GIVE

T.H.U.G.

- Saw a picture of Emmett Till when she was six. Asked her mom. "Because of the color of your skin, not everyone is going to value you the way I do."

BUT That was a little deep for Angie. She only heard RAPPERS addressing her ISSUES.

Angie felt SEEN by hip hop rappers.
